NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR CIVIC CLUB OFFICERS

Have you ever found yourself wondering “What are those people thinking?” when it comes to the Civic Club Officers? Well, now’s your chance to get off your duff and do something about it. As we roll into the last quarter of the year, it’s time once again to decide who will represent you in decisions regarding the neighborhood. Terms begin January 1 and end on December 31, 2000. The slate of officers will be presented at the November 2nd Civic Club meeting and voted on at the December 7th Annual Meeting.

Nominations are currently being sought for the offices of President; 1st Vice President/Membership; 2nd Vice President/Gazette Editor; Secretary and Treasurer. All nominees must be residents of Garden Oaks and dues paying members of the Civic Club. The duties and responsibilities for each position includes:

President: The principal executive officer who supervises and controls all business and affairs of the Civic Club; presides at monthly meetings of the members and quarterly meetings of the Board of Directors; signs, with the Secretary, any deeds, mortgages, bonds, contracts, correspondence, etc.; visible representative of any scheduled special events sponsored by the Civic Club; fields phone calls from residents; writes a monthly column for the Gazette. Time spent per month fulfilling duties: 8 - 12 hours.

SEPTEMBER CIVIC CLUB MEETING

After a one month hiatus, (all of you did participate in National Night Out, didn’t you?), the Civic Club will reconvene on Tuesday, September 7th at 7:00 PM at the G. O. Elementary School.

One of the items on the agenda will be the formation of an ad hoc Committee to research revised deed restrictions for Garden Oaks. (See the related article below.)

FORMATION OF AD HOC COMMITTEE

Shelly Immel

As reported in the August Gazette, a small group of volunteers has begun work on what to do next about our deed restrictions. So far, we have created a list of possible changes to the deed restrictions. We aren’t trying to draft proposed changes now. Instead, we’ve used this list

EDITOR'S CORNER

I left for work with the house looking as it always has. I returned home to find the beaded pine boards in the living room painted over with primer and a stack of paint chips in an assortment of greens. The Other Half and I were about to travel down that dangerous road once again... picking a paint color we can both live with. Some of you may recall our adventures back in March when we tried to find a suitable yellow for the walls in the breakfast nook and kitchen. That was a small project compared to what we were about to undergo, because once the living room received a fresh coat of paint that could only mean one thing—the dining room, the hallway, the guestroom/den and the office would all have to be painted as well.

The beaded pine boards cover two of the four walls in the living room. In addition, our entire family room in the back of the house is also paneled with the same pine boards. Admittedly, it was more wood paneling than either of us could live with. But painting over all that paneling? The task just seemed daunting to say the least. There was no backing out now however. The Other Half is no fool, he had it all figured out. The wood had already been primed so there was no turning back, no putting off the task and no avoiding the dreaded color selection process.

Haze Green. Chinois. Jungle River. Silver Moss. Peyote. Middlestone. Silk Cypress. Salted Ash. Oregano. Shagbark. Light

Olive. Olive Tree. Light Lichen. Willow River. Arkansas Green. These are colors I'm suppose to pick from? Who sits around thinking up these names anyway? Whatever happened to just plain Green? I have to admit the Other Half has come a long way in the 14 years we have been together. Back then, the Other Half's idea of using color was painting with off white, trimmed with bright white. Now, the Other Half is boldly going with COLOR. I, on the other hand, lack the vision to see beyond a 2 inch chip of paint and envision what an entire room will look like in whatever color we pick. So I let the Other Half make the decision and write the check for the home warehouse. It's a tough job but someone has to do it.

The living room is finished and the dining room has also been painted. What colors you ask? Well the living room is Haze Green and the Dining Room is Jungle River. That's a pale green and a dark green to everyone else out there. The trim has also been painted, bright white. Even I know when to concede a little to the Other Half. Of course, we still have to pick a color and a style for the window treatments as they remain bare. But it gives everyone passing by a great view of the newly painted rooms, both visible from the street, without much effort, if you're ever driving by.

The next painting project is the guest room. How does Melon Kiss, Ruby Blush, Cranberry Mist or Princess Pearl grab you? I think I'll grab another mug of Colombian Roast and ponder those paint chips a while longer.

PRESIDENT FLOWERS

National Night Out was a huge success! I left my home at 6:30 with intentions of visiting most - if not all - block parties. At 10:30, I left my last party, and I know I did not get to visit everyone. Some had themes, some a variety of food and drinks, and some had entertainment brought in for the evening. I had a great time visiting with all of the residents I met. The food and entertainment were all great. Best of all, I saw so many people that I had not met in the past and that do not attend the monthly civic meetings. Most of them were new residents to Garden Oaks. I had so many people ask me questions regarding a variety of issues concerning the neighborhood and could not answer all of them in the amount of time I had that evening. Thanks to all of the neighbors who opened their homes for this special event.

Please use the new online chat room that Robert De Veau and Mark Folk are responsible for organizing. You can join by going to http://www.onelist.com/subscribe.cgi/Houston_GO. I have been peeking in to see what people are discussing. Often, a resident of Garden Oaks in that chat room can answer most of the questions that you have. Of course, not all of the answers you get will be reliable. Many may simply be the opinions of the author. You can post notifications of garage sales or other items that you may wish to sell. You can find out if someone has a tool you can borrow. You can even post a job opening you may have. This is a great resource for all of you to use.

I usually get five to seven phone calls/messages a week from concerned neighbors regarding issues that directly impact them in some way. The first question I have in response to their concern is, "Are you a member of the Civic Club?" The response, eight out of ten times, is "No". They are usually insistent that something be done immediately to halt what they are concerned about. They are usually bewildered as to how the Civic Club could vote on an issue which impacts their property. They sometimes want to know why I am not out knocking on doors to find out what residents want. They often question beautification projects and other funds being spent in Garden Oaks. They always say they are just too busy to attend the monthly meeting or they hate the bickering that goes on at these type meetings. People, come on, the meeting offers baby sitting, refreshments, and I always end the meeting promptly at 8:30. Spend the $20 and join the Civic Club. Attend just one meeting a month in the evening. Come voice your concerns at the meeting and ask all the questions you want. I always try to keep bickering out of it!!

HOME TOUR 2000 TAKING SHAPE

Meredith Jenkins, Chair

After a brief respite from this year's successful Home and Garden Tour, the committee has already begun working on next year's event. As you read this, we will have had one committee chairperson's meeting and the Selection Committee will have been out twice looking at prospective homes. A very impressive start for the 2000 Home and Garden Tour. But just because the worker bees have been busy in the hive, doesn't mean it's too late for you to join the committee. There are plenty of volunteer positions available.

A major difference this year is the way our committee system will be structured. Rather than bringing all the volunteers together every month, each Committee Chairperson will meet separately with their own committee members and the Chairs will meet monthly together as a group to give a progress report. Your level of commitment will depend greatly on the committee you choose to volunteer with. Following is a list of the committees. If one or more of these is of interest you, feel free to contact me at home (713) 697-5654 or via e-mail at C62KMJ@oag.state.tx.us and plan to attend the informational meeting on Monday, September 27th at 7:00 PM which will be held at 1335 Sue Barnett.

of items to draft a survey. The survey will give every property owner in Garden Oaks the chance to tell us what they think about specific deed restriction items that could be changed. We plan to publish the survey as an insert in the October Gazette. We also plan to distribute it via email to everyone signed up on the Houston_GO mailing list. (See details below.)

So far this work has been done by an informal, unofficial working group made up of concerned volunteers from the neighborhood. We have not been affiliated with either the Board of Trustees or with the Civic Club. However, in the September 7th meeting, we'll propose that the Civic Club form a committee on deed restrictions. (There wasn't an August Civic Club meeting, so this is our first chance to become "official" since we started our work at the end of July.)

We'll propose that the purpose of this Civic Club committee be to gather information about deed restriction changes people do or don't want, use that information to draft proposed deed restriction updates, and then organize the neighborhood vote on the proposed updates. This committee can take over the work done so far and carry it forward. There will be room on the committee for anyone who wants to participate. There is also a great need for volunteers in other roles such as block captains.

One point I want to emphasize is that you do not have to agree with others in this group (or later, on this committee) on each item in the deed restrictions. This group was formed to gather information about what all Garden Oaks property owners want to do with regard to the deed restrictions. Whether you're in the majority or the minority, everyone gets a vote. We know that people will have varying and sometimes conflicting opinions. But we still need everyone's help if we're going to succeed in our efforts to get appropriate updates drafted and voted in.

If you'd like to help, we'd love to have you. PLEASE CALL US TO VOLUNTEER at (713) 341-3737. You can hear the latest news and then leave a message on the Deed Restriction Action Hotline. Or you can email godeed@ev1.net (Thank you to the people who have already volunteered!)

If you have an email account, you can keep in touch with your neighbors on this and other topics in a more interactive way—you can sign up on the Houston_GO mailing list. It is "a moderated discussion of issues and current events of interest to residents of the Garden Oaks subdivisions in Houston, Texas." The list is free and easy to join. Just go to http://www.onelist.com/subscribe.cgi/Houston_GO.

Please come to the September 7th Civic Club meeting to hear the latest news and help determine what we as a community will do next about our deed restrictions.

GOCOP REPORT

Carl Waters, Jr.

My goodness where has the year gone! It seems like just a couple of months ago we were starting the new year and now we are quickly closing in on the end of this one. As this article arrives at your home the neighborhood children will have been back in school for two weeks. Please keep this in mind as you head out to work in the morning and back home in the evening.

Congratulations to new patrollers Steve and Edie Abby and Amanda and Robert Carlin. They completed COP training in July and hit the streets in August. Amanda and Robert had the dubious honor of coming across a neighbor having a problem with an unwanted party at her front door and spent their first night on patrol following the individual until he got on a Metro bus going south on Shepherd. Numerous calls to 911 went apparently unanswered. I am looking into that with HPD North Command staff.

In June patrollers and bases operators spent 51 ¾ hours on duty in the neighborhood.

COP is always looking for more volunteers. If you would like to join us training classes are offered at the North Command Station, 9455 West Montgomery Rd. twice a month. A day time training is offered on the second Thursday of each month at 10:00 a.m. and an evening session is held on the fourth Thursday at 7:00 p.m.

June Crime Statistics (5)

Robbery (2)

- 3000 block of N. Shepherd on June 18th at 7:00 p.m. (Public Street)
- 900 block of W. 42nd St. on June 25th at 11:30 p.m. (Public Street)

Burglary (3)

- 200 block of W. 34th St. on June 12th at 11:28 a.m. (Garage)
- 3000 block of N. Shepherd June 19th at 3:30 p.m. (Garage)
- 900 block of Althea - June 21st at 5:00 p.m. (Residential Out Building). I had never heard this one before but believe it was a storage shed.

Get on-line with your neighbors. Sign up today for the Garden Oaks list-serv. It's informative, it's fun and best of all, it's free. Looking for advice on how to repair that old flooring? Have something to sell? Need to hire someone? How about just having someplace to air your concerns and voice your opinions? Go the best source available—your neighbors and friends. SEPTEMBER GARDENING GUIDE

Tina Sabuco

September is a great time for landscaping. There's less going on, you can rely on a nursery help more easily and the weather is delightful. Has the August heat beaten your garden into submission? Don't despair! Begin your fall landscaping projects. Trees and shrubs planted this month will be well established by spring's growing season.

Dig and divide established daffodils and other spring bulbs early in the month. Transplant fall perennials including "garden" chrysanthemums, fall asters and Salvia leucantha from nursery pots. Wildflowers should be sown this month into weed-free roto-tilled soil. Spring perennials such as daylilies, iris, shasta daisies, coneflowers and gloriosa daisies can be trimmed lightly, then dug and divided late this month.

Root-prune wisteria to promote better bud set. Cut lateral roots 8 to 12 inches deep in ring 18 to 24 inches from the trunk. Root-prune established trees and shrubs you intend to move this winter, to allow them time to establish new roots within their eventual soil balls. Do not attempt to cut tap roots at this time. Re-shape shrubs to correct erratic summer growth. Remove dead and damaged limbs from landscape plants. Hire an arborist as needed to correct difficult problems. Groom your perennial garden to remove foliage browned by the summer. Trim houseplants that are spending the summer outdoors to reshape them before their return inside.

This will be the last chance to apply iron and sulfur to correct yellowed foliage on iron-deficient plants such as wisteria, dogwoods, azaleas, camellias, ligustrums, hollies and others. Keep iron products off surfaces that could be stained. Apply a 3-1-2 or 4-1-2 ratio lawn food for the last feeding of your turf. This is the most important feeding of the entire growing season. Apply high-phosphate bud-setting fertilizer (unless soil tests indicate otherwise) to spring-flowering shrubs, vines and trees. Keep those patio pots and hanging baskets growing actively in fall's improving conditions by applying 20-20-20 water-soluble fertilizer with each watering.

WELCOME AT-HOME-MOTHERS

The MOMS Club Of Near Northwest Houston invites you to attend an Open House on Wednesday, September 8th from 9:30 – 11:30 AM at St. Stephen's United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall on 2003 W 43rd Street.

Local chapters plan monthly meetings with interesting speakers and discussions, park playdays, special outings for mothers and their children, family holiday parties, and activity groups like playgroups, book club, and monthly MOMS Night Out. Children are welcome at all of our activities!
